

Problem Statement:

It is difficult to handle time management as a college student or someone working a job.

Details:

The day-to-day life of a college student and/or someone working a full time job can be very time consuming and it can be difficult to manage their day and what they do with the 24 hours a day that they are given.